My friends know that I don't leave my beach house without three essentials: sunscreen, an umbrella and a big hat. I've been fighting the wrinkle war ever since an old boss with tanned skin convinced me that sunscreen was the way to go if I wanted to keep my skin soft. And since I spend almost every weekend on the beach during the summer, finding a suitable beach hat is always a priority. So I'm excited to share my great discovery for the summer of 2019: The Wise Hat by Australian Designer Helen Kaminski ($195; villagehatshop.com). Dermatologists will tell you to look for a tight fabric with a wide brim, which makes my summer selection fit perfectly: it's made of hand-braided raffia in long rows called braids, which are then sewn together in tight rows. It also has a 5 1/8 inch wide wing. I can see my dermatologist smiling now. Kaminski's hats are simply beautiful, she finds inspiration for her collection in the natural beauty of Australia's beaches. He discovered his line when he visited St. Barthe's a few years ago. An incredibly elegant woman dressed in one piece was wearing one of her hats by the pool at our hotel. At the end of each day, she would roll up her hat and put it in her purse. Not only did it look fantastic, but the fact that it was so easy to crush convinced me. I can't bother with delicate hats that are in bad shape for the 4th of July. Hats are not cheap, but worth the investment. Hello, Reader! In this tutorial, you will learn how to make a fun, crazy, silly hat. It is a perfect accessory for parties (or to take selfies!). It doesn't have a particular theme, but you can change the decorations and customize it, too! So, without wasting any more time, let's start! Paperboard (or thick cardboard) Plate of (Optional) Scissors/Tissue paper cutter (or crepe paper) Wire (or pipe cleaner) Yarn (Optional) Colored paper/Glue/Paint Pin (Security pin or anything similar) Take your cardboard or or and round the end as shown in the picture. You can do this if you have made it cut properly, by rolling it on a cone and making adjustments. Once happy, secure it with the tape. Take a sheet of paper or cardboard. (There is no particular reason to use a paper plate.) Cut into a circle. Make sure the size is relative to the "cone" part of the hat. In the middle of the circle, measure the bottom of the "cone" and circle them. Join both parts that we just made and keep them together as shown in the picture using tape. Use your favorite paint and paint on the base we just did. In the next step after the paint dries. Take different pieces of colored paper. If you have any waste that lies, then you can use them here! Cut the colored papers into different shapes like circles, squares, triangles, hearts, rectangles, etc. The ones on the hat. Take a PIN. A pin. Holes in the hat. Wire take. (If you don't have copper wire, you can find it on any previous electrical wire. Or maybe replace it for pipe cleaners). whose wire on some parts. The pieces do not have to be the same size. Have fun with that! Take the one of those pieces and stick them through one of the holes. Turn over the excess coming through the interior and secure it with a tape. The wire that's outside, leave it in a random way. Double, you're stopping, everything! Repeat until you are done with all the wires (or pipe cleaners). For the topper, we're doing a blowjob! To make a pom-pom for this project, you need tissue paper or crepe. Choose your paper and cut it to your desired size. After cutting it, fold the paper in accordion style. Following the accordion fold using wire or wire in the middle. After that, round the end. APPROPRIATE folds a little. Don't force it, as it could be torn, so both ends as you in the picture, so it looks almost like a flower. After it dries, glue the pom-pom to the top of the hat. And finally, after so much work, we're done! I participate in Saty Hats Speed à €
