ROGUEISH ARCHETYPE: SECRET SANTA

At 3rd level, the rogue gains the Rogueish Archetype features.

SECRET SANTA FEATURES

Rogue Level	Feature
3rd	ToyMaker, Gift-giver
9th	Detect Naughty And Nice
13th	Only Stories
17th	Curiosity

TOYMAKER
When you choose this archetype at 3rd level you gain proficiency in two sets of artisan's tools of your choice, and have advantage when attempting to create a toy.

GIFT-GIVER
Starting at 3rd level, you learn that it is better to give than to receive. You can use the bonus action granted by your Cunning Action to make a Dexterity (Sleight of Hand) check. You have advantage on these checks if you are attempting to leave an object somewhere.
If you make a successful Dexterity (Sleight of Hand) check to leave a potion, poison, or other consumable item in a creature's pockets or in contact with its body, you can choose to have the item affect the creature as if it had consumed it. The item then disappears.

DETECT NAUGHTY AND NICE
Starting at 9th level, you are able to judge at a glance whether a creature has been naughty or nice. As an action, choose one creature you can see within 60 feet of you. You immediately learn that creature's alignment, if it has one. If a creature is hidden from divination magic, you sense that the creature's alignment matches your own.

ONLY STORIES
At 13th level you have learned to blend in with your environment and never get caught when doing your job. The elves make sure of that! Should you still fail a Dexterity(Sleight) Check, you can use this ability to reroll it until you roll something that is at least 5 numbers higher than your original roll.

CURIOSITY
At 17th level, you use the natural curiosity of every intelligent creature to your advantage! You put a present somewhere the targeted creature can see, preferably without spotting you, and the creature is pulled towards the gift with a natural curiosity and will focus on it for 1d6 minutes and taking as much time to unpack it, it will be wholly distracted for the time and won't hear any medium sounds or expect attacks.

WARLOCK PATRON: THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

CREATURE CODEX U

UNDEAD PHOENIX

This huge winged creature is surrounded by a dark purple aura like a sick, greasy fog. The flesh and feathers of the bird fall away in wispy lamps, as if it is in a perpetual state of decay.

THE ANTI-THESIS OF REBIRTH. The phoenix is a fiery symbol of hope, rebirth, renewal, and the inspiring resilience of life. The undead phoenix is the antithesis of that: a symbol of death, decay, rot, and the relentless crush of death. The creature appears as a large bird surrounded by a swirling aura of purple-black vapors. Within the vile fog, the undead phoenix's physical form is in a constant state of decay: molting feathers, oozing flesh, dripping blood, and exposed bones.

COBWEBBED CREATION. The undead phoenix is "born" when a typical phoenix dies at the hands of an undead creature that creates new undead: vampires, wraiths, wights, and the like. Liches sometimes arrange the creation of an undead phoenix to use them as mounts. Phoenixes succumbing to undeath rot away to nothing in a matter of seconds, leaving only a pile of foul, rotting goo. Moments later, the putrid ooze explodes as the undead phoenix slithers out of the substance in its new form.

SPREADER OF DECAY. The undead phoenix is often a harbinger of death through disease, plague, or famine. Its aura invites sickness and rot in anyone unfortunate enough to get close. Its malignant beak spreads its decay, making natural or magical recuperation impossible.

UNDEAD NATURE. The undead phoenix doesn't require air, food, drink, or sleep.

UNDEAD PHOENIX

Bilious Aura. A living creature that starts its turn within 10 feet of the undead phoenix can't regain hp and has disadvantage on Constitution saving throws until the start of its next turn.

Eternal Unlife. If it dies, the undead phoenix reverts into a pile of necrotic-tainted ooze and is reborn in 24 hours with all of its hp. Only killing it with radiant damage prevents this trait from functioning.

ACTIONS

Multiattack. The undead phoenix makes three attacks: two with its claws and one with its decaying bite.

Claws. Melee Weapon Attack: +10 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 20 (4d6 + 6) slashing damage.

Decaying Bite. Melee Weapon Attack: +10 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 15 (2d8 + 6) piercing damage plus 14 (4d6) necrotic damage. The target must succeed on a DC 15 Constitution saving throw or be cursed with perpetual decay. The cursed target can't regain hp until the curse is lifted by the remove curse spell or similar magic.

That sounds really good. well. and opens up a ton of potential role. Yes. Other good candidates include but are not limited to Kobolds and Beasts. If you are not familiar with the incapacitated condition! An incapacitated creature cannot take actions or reactions and a falling tilt means it can only move through a crawl and the creatures are at a disadvantage on the attack rules and gives the creature an advantage if the attacker is at 5 feet, otherwise the attack has the disadvantage. The best enemies to use Tasha's horrible laughs are those who have strong predispositions to martial traits. At the end of each of its turns, and whenever it takes damage, the target can make another shot of saving wisdom. The first would be used on a guard. They do the rescue again at the end of every shift or when damage is needed. From this article we will know all about this spell how it works, what level it is. Spell lists: Bard, Wizard which is really interesting, I really like this one. Why should I take Tasha's horrible laugh? Tasha's horrible laugh will be a good retreat for BARDI and Wizards because there is no shortage of low enemies of wisdom to fight in the world. Is Tasha's horrible laugh a charm? From this article we will deal with Tasha Hideous Laughter 5e which is just a fantastic spell. Alternatively you can actually use it to brake a creature even in an incapacitated fall and prone is a great combination to be able to slap some cuffs on someone or otherwise hold them back. The target has advantage over the save shot if it is triggered by damage. The spell can target any creature, but a creature with 4 or less points in intelligence is not affected by it. So basically it rises nice eadere to them and just to beat them pretty valuable. No, no. Before entering into the deeper explanation¹ a small ad ... If you haven't checked our D & D Spells 5e yet please proceed with the given link. Who can throw a horrible laugh at Tasha? Alternative uses at ˆac to be a couple. Even without the added flavor of your enemy doubled on a laugh, the ability to knock someone prone with a wisdom, save A a powerful tool. Eldritch Knights, however, will wait until level 8 when they can take spells from the Enchantment School of Magic. What are the tiny tarts? This is said that A usable by the Bard and the Wizard and is found in the manual of good players. What's the DC for Tasha's horrible laugh? Even if the target has an advantage over the saving shot if it is activated by a damage. So I think these are some pretty decent uses for this spell. Bards and Wizards are the only ones who have a capacity natural to throw horrible laughter of Tasha. Now without further ADO, take a look at our mechanics.
