Goldsmith leveling guide

Goldsmith leveling guide endwalker. Ffxiv goldsmith desynthesis leveling guide.

This requires you to carefully choose actions to manage your CP. If you really struggle with the mechanics, there are tons of other players who figure out the best crafting macros and share them with the community. To unlock them, you will have to complete two different quest chains in Yanxia — "Courage the Cowardly Lupin" from Fukudo (x30.9, y17.8) and "Perchance to Hanami" from Ochimi (x30.3, y18.3). They heavily influence your synthesis success rates. / Square Enix via HGG The materials you will need at this stage will most likely cost you more than anything prior to this, so make sure to keep an eye on the market board and see if prices drop before buying a bunch of items. When trying to craft an HQ item, you have to figure out how to increase the progress bar and quality bar without depleting the durability bar. / Square Enix via HGG If you want to make back all the money you might have spent getting to this point, you can turn your eye to the market board and start making things that will sell. Levequests are straightforward: you pick one up, and it tells you what item to make and how many. This process takes a lot of time and materia, meaning it's something that should only be done to max level. Best-in-Slot (BIS) gear. Collectable Appraisers will grant you with White Scrips, which you can take to Scrip Exchange NPCs to trade for rare and valuable items. You have a limited amount of leve allowances listed at the bottom of your quest journal. This means you will have to level everything manually and gather materials yourself (unless you have a very generous friend with a subscription). Once you reach Level 30 in any crafter job, you can complete the quest "Gone to Pieces" (found in Ul'Dah — Steps of Thal at x14, y10) to unlock desynthesis. If you want to figure it out on your own, it can be a time and material consuming process. There are a few different methods for levelling crafters. / Square Enix via HGG Pick up the quest "Inscrutable Tastes" from Morgayne in Foundation (x10.1, y10.4). Ferreal here is the supplier for carpenters. Happy gaming! Each job has a unique flavor and makes a wide variety of items. Synthesis Bringing 2x4s into the world takes some careful calculation. They can also make frying pans for Culinariums. Blacksmith can be unlocked in Limsa Lominsa Upper Decks (x9, y7) by speaking to Charlys to start the quest "Way of the Culinarian." Culinariums make food, which grants all kinds of temporary stat boosts. Alchemist can be unlocked in Ul'dah — Steps of Thal (x9, y13) by speaking to Deitrich to start the quest "Way of the Alchemist." Alchemists specialize in making consumables like potions, elixirs, and other cures and buffs. Here's where things can get complicated, but don't worry! It's easier than it looks. In Heavensward, the Moogles provide crafting quests. There are multiple avenues for you to pursue. Levels 80-90 Endwalker has raised the level cap to 90, but the process for getting your crafters there will continue with collectable crafting. For the levelling process we're going to outline below, it is recommended you have 3-5M gil in order to purchase the necessary materials. Here's a quick overview: Craftsmanship influences the amount that your progress bar fills when you perform synthesis. Control influences the amount of quality gained when you use actions to increase it during synthesis. If you choose not to go The Firmament route, there are other EXP opportunities that we will go over later. More control means you have better chances of making an HQ craft. Strength influences HQ chances for Blacksmith's primary tool and Armorer's secondary tool. Vitality influences HQ chance for Carpenter, Armorer, and Leatherworker's primary tools. Intelligence influences HQ chance for Alchemist's primary tool and Goldsmith and Leatherworker's secondary tools. Mind influences HQ chance for Culinarian's primary tool and Blacksmith and Weaver's secondary tools. Piety influences HQ chance for Alchemist and Culinarian's Secondary tools. Crafting can be flexible, so find out what works best for you! Up until Level 73, you will continue to make Ishgard Restoration recipes for turn-ins. / Square Enix via HGG This process will break down an item into the materials used to create it. You can get material drops from: Killing enemies/Drops from trials and raids/Following treasure maps/Completing quests/NPC merchants/Gathering them yourself with the gatherer jobs (Fisher, Miner, and Botanist)/The market board/Desynthesis The quickest way to acquire materials is by purchasing them, whether it is from NPCs or other players on the market board. Job quests will give you basic gear and decent EXP. Crafting Endgame So you've made it to max level with one (or all) of your crafters. This is your job resource for all crafters. Levels 75-80 You will now turn your focus to crafting collectables and turning them in to Collectable Appraiser NPCs. Collectable Appraisers are located in Limsa Lominsa, Gridania, Ul'dah, Mor Dhona, Idyllshire, Rhalgr's Reach, and Eulmore. These recipes are primarily made with materials from the Diadem, the gatherer-focused half of The Firmament. Craftsmanship and Control will be important no matter what job you pick, and you should focus on getting gear, food, and crafter materia that increase these two above all else. Overmelding allows you to meld more materia to a piece of gear than normally allowed, but only certain pieces of gear can be overmelded. Join the High Ground We hope you enjoyed our FFXIV crafting guide! Some small tweaks with Endwalker's release have made crafting a tiny bit easier and there are more players in the game now than ever, so there's never been a better time to pick up crafting. You can also offer up materia melding services (and charge a fee if you're particularly money-minded). That being said, levelling up fast is largely dependent on making HQ items and meeting quality thresholds. It is worth noting that if you are a free trial player, you do not have access to the market board. If you give a cat a saw. / Square Enix via HGG The following list will give you the location for each job's unlock quest and a brief, non-comprehensive description of what each job does: Armorer can be unlocked in Limsa Lominsa Upper Decks (x10, y15) by speaking to G'wahako to start the quest "Way of the Armorer." As the name suggests, Armorer's specialize in making armor, primarily for tanks and physical DPS jobs. As you level up, you'll unlock a new page of recipes every time you reach a level ending in 3 or 8. Many of these may be familiar, as they are also applicable for combat jobs: Road to 70 (Preferred Worlds): If you are lucky enough to be on a Preferred World, you will have a +100% EXP bonus to all jobs up until Level 70. Eating Food: Eating any food provides a +3% EXP bonus. Engineering Manuals: These items that grant a +150% EXP boost and can be obtained from various scrip exchange NPCs and your Grand Company respectively. Note: the Squadron Engineering Manual only gives a +20% EXP boost. Free Company Buffs: The Helping Hand buffs provide various crafting EXP boosts, but these will only be available to you if you are in a Free Company that chooses to use them. Bonus EXP Gear: If you recruit a friend or are recruited by a friend, you will receive the Friendship Circle, which gives a +20% EXP boost up to Level 26. Once you reach Level 19 in any crafter job, you can complete the quest "Waking the Spirit" (found in Central Thanalan at x23, y13) to unlock materia melding. / Square Enix via HGG Crafting materials (commonly referred to as "mats") can be acquired from all kinds of content. I was sent to learn of the markets. Let's get started! FFXIV Crafting Jobs FFXIV currently offers eight crafting jobs known as the Disciples of the Hand. Use quick synthesis to grind out crafts for the rest of this stage. / Square Enix via HGG Character stats are very important for crafters in FFXIV. Where to Get Crafting Materials Reapers aren't the only ones reaping. Things are equally complicated here as well — complete the two aether current quests "Village of Woe" (Kholusia: x15.3, y28.6), and "A Disagreeable Dwarf" (Kholusia: x12.4, y9.2) to unlock the quest "Ronit to the Rescue." Completing it will lead to "It's Dwarfing Time," which will unlock the dwarf tribe quests. (Check out our guide to The Firmament!) Speak to Potkin to unlock Ishgard Restoration Recipes in your Crafting Log. Contrant is the levemete in Gridania, at the Carline Canopy. This includes the ideal gear for this stage, the Handsaint's Crafting Armour and Tools, as well as Master Recipe Books. You will want to unlock all the jobs and start chipping away at your Crafting Log for each, completing job quests as they come. Some are cheaper, but they take much more time. For one, you are capable of making anything you can get the materials for. When you unlock your first crafter job, you will gain access to the Crafting Log. When you hit Level 10 in a crafter job, you unlock quick synthesis, which allows you to automatically create as many of a given item as you can without performing synthesis manually. Even things you didn't make can be unmade. Desynthesis All things made can be unmade. EXP Bonuses There are a handful of ways to make your levelling process less of a drag. In addition to purchasing materials, you will want to seek out crafting gear vendors to buy gear as you level up. Each state only lasts a round, and you can use certain actions to capitalize on them to do things like increase quality or restore CP. You can use tools like FFXIV Teamcraft to help with rotation calculations, and there are many players who have come with a wide variety of ideal gear sets, food, and rotations. During this period, we recommend that you ignore your job quests in favor of levelling quickly. The bar gradually fills as you perform actions. The Crafting Log displays the recipes you have access to at your level, the materials needed to make them, and any other requirements. Levels 73-75 You will probably be quite tired of The Firmament by now, and I'm happy to tell you that you can leave. This week, we'll be telling you how to level up your crafters and start making gil in this FFXIV crafting guide. You win some, you lose some. Once you hit Level 10 on your first crafter, you will unlock quick synthesis across all crafter jobs. HQ items will give you more EXP. If you're not buying the materials, settle in for a long gathering journey and check out our guide for the Disciples of the Land's Crafting Levelling Process Welcome to the levelling portion of our FFXIV crafting guide. There is a small chance of failing quick synthesis if you are attempting something outside of your skill range, but there is also a small chance of attaining HQ crafts from quick synthesis. In Shadowbinders, the Dwarves provide crafting quests. When the bar is full, the craft is done. Durability determines how many actions you can take before you fail to synthesize the craft. To unlock them, talk to the Seething Stonemason in The Churning Mists (x27, y34) to pick up the quest "Tricks and Stones." In Stormblood, the Namazu provide crafting quests. / Square Enix via HGG You can get materials from the Guild Supplier inside the guild hall of whichever job you are levelling. Birds are also capable of using tools. These chains will lead you to "Something Fishy This Way Comes," which is given to you by the Floundering Namazu in the Azim Steppe (x17.4, y37.5). Beatin might give you a beatin' if you don't get his quests done eventually. When you're not gunning for that HQ craft, you don't have to worry about this as much. The ideal crafting rotation will increase the quality of the item as high as possible without depleting durability. Desynthesizing items will increase the skill level for the job used. Levequests just as there are battlecraft levequests for combat jobs, there are tradecraft levequests for crafter jobs. Using certain actions during synthesis will decrease your CP, while others will restore it. Quality determines your chances of making an HQ (high quality) item. The rest of the stats are good to understand, but not important for gearing. Good areas to target are: Raid food/Popular glamour items/Popular furnishings/Materials items gained from crafter scrip turn-ins/Accessories (necklaces, bracelets, rings)/Glamour prisms and dispellers Look at the items that sell high on your server and go from there! Keep in mind that the market board is a competitive place. How you level your crafters depends on your in-game funds and your patience. At Level 73, we recommend that you go back and complete all job quests that you previously ignored. Some are faster, but require more gil. / Square Enix via HGG Until Level 50, tradecraft leves will be spread across the three starting cities: Gridania, Ul'dah, and Limsa Lominsa. When you select a recipe, you can begin synthesis. Each crafter job has its own desynthesis skill level. It can also be used for all crafters, whether you choose to level them together or one at a time. That being said, the method presented here is going to be the fastest. It's in your best interest to check on your items every now and then to adjust prices based on the recent sale history. You gain three allowances every twelve (real time) hours. What now? Crafting Basics Before we dive into the levelling process, we should explain how crafting works. The states are Poor, Normal, Good, and Excellent. If you don't care about maxing out your crafters as fast as possible (or if you don't have a ton of gil to buy the gear and materials to do so), here are two more EXP sources for you. Materia is extracted from gear with 100% spiritbond, and max level players meld materia to their gear to increase its stats. Thankfully, the community has got your back. The EXP from this will get you to Level 75, at which point you can unlock Collectables and Master Recipes in order to enter the next stage. Big ticket items vary from server to server, so keep an eye on the things that are selling high and craft to the demand. If your durability bar empties before your progress bar is full, the craft fails. CP stands for "Crafting Points" and is displayed beside your HP bar. Crafting is one of the most profitable activities in FFXIV, and there's more than one way you can make money with it. / Square Enix via HGG In A Realm Reborn, the Ixal provide crafting quests. The higher your skill level is compared to the item's level, the better your chances of getting a treat. Level 50-58 leves will be in Ishgard, Level 60-68 leves are in Kugane, and Level 70-78 leves are in the Crystarium. You can gather them yourself or purchase them off the market board (this is where that 3-5 million gil comes into play). Here are the vendors and locations for each level: Level 21 and 41: Syneyhill, the Fieldcraft Supplier — Limsa Lominsa Lower Decks (X 6.3 Y:11.9) Level 53: Evrardoux, the Fieldcraft Supplier — The Pillars (X: 6.5 Y: 9.5) Level 63: Shichihito, the Tools Supplier — Kugane (X: 12.7 Y: 12.2) Level 71: Vernarth, the Tools Supplier — The Crystarium (X: 9.3 Y: 14.4) Crafting and turning in items for the Ishgard Restoration will grant you extra EXP, but you will have to make sure you are meeting the required thresholds for the turn-ins. It can also give players special items that are only obtainable through desynthesis. Some levequests will ask you to turn in items three times; these are the best way to maximize your EXP gain. Once you hit level cap, you should turn your attention to acquiring some of the new max level crafting gear for yourself so you can make whatever you want and start turning a profit on the market board! Crafting Quests There are two other sources of EXP for levelling crafters. Generally, you can craft recipes up to five levels above your own. For example, desynthesizing a Giganthark with Culinarian can yield one of two rare glamour items — the South Seas Talisman or Sea Breeze Summer Halter. Levels 1-21 The first stage of levelling is simple and straightforward. Materia Melding You have certainly encountered materia with your combat jobs. To unlock them, talk to Scarlet in New Gridania (x9.9, y11.4) to pick up the quest "A Bad Bladder." If the job's skill level is higher than the recommended level for a given item, it can be desynthesized. Everything you need to know in one convenient place! / Square Enix via HGG Let's start by breaking things down. You can craft high level gear, weapons, and consumables for yourself and your friends. They sell everything you need to make the low level recipes in your Crafting Log, and their offerings are affordable. Levels 21-73 The party never stops in The Firmament! And neither does the crafting! / Square Enix via HGG Once you are over Level 20, you will be able to start working in The Firmament. Level 81 High Durium Crafting Tools (Option 2) Level 80 Handsaint's Crafting Tools (Option 3) To many players, crafting is one of the most daunting activities that Final Fantasy XIV has to offer. If you preordered Endwalker, you will have received Menphina's Earring, which gives you a +30% EXP boost up to Level 80. This will unlock the quest "Towards the Firmament," which can be picked up in Foundation (x9.7, y 1.5) from the Recruitment Notice. Mr. Parsemontret, sir. You can unlock levequests at Level 10 by visiting the Levemete NPC in your starting city's Adventurer's Guild. Crafting Stats It's simple, really: you make number go up. In order to do this, you must have a combat job at Level 60 and have completed the main story quest "Litany of Peace." Subscribe to our newsletter and follow us on social media for more FFXIV crafting and gathering guides. The crafting system in FFXIV is almost mathematical at relation that works. / Square Enix via HGG Synthesis is the act of crafting. Beast Tribe Dailies as the name implies, Beast Tribe Dailies refresh on a daily basis and provide a consistent source of EXP as well as a wide variety of other rewards. Completing this quest will unlock the ability to craft collectables. A new window will open, displaying several pieces of information: Progress shows how close you are to completing a craft. The mechanics are pretty complex and can be tough to master, but the work is worth the reward.
